

Top Right Questions Learn From Lockdown

For the business – financial decisions and strategic planning

If you could go back in time, what decisions would you make differently? In the past 6 months? The past year? The past 5 years?	What did you invest money in during the past 2 years that in hindsight didn't make sense?	What should you invest more money in when your cashflow recovers?
Where have you been focusing too much time and energy? And where not enough?	What business information would it have been helpful to have been closer to / to have more insight on?	How might the "new world" challenge your business? (Think about increased awareness of environmental challenges,
What changes might you need to make to your financial and strategic plans to be a business that people want to do business with, in this "new world"?	What processes might need to change as a result of your learning from this experience to make the business: leaner, faster / more responsive, safer, more compliant	redefinition of "low-skill" workers, increased capacity to work from home, focus on health rather than wealth etc)